NILES, O., March 2—James Niles, son of a prominent contractor, was kidnapped early today while on his way to school.

The boy was driven off by two men in a brown coupe, Anna May, daughter of Ashtabula, was with him, told Niles' father.

The kidnappers drove off the kidnapers when they grabbed him. Anna May, 11, told police. They drove away after he broke away from them off but did not attempt to resist her, she said.

Anna May was wearing the DeLuxe suit.

She said last about 8:15 a. m. as she was walking to school, she saw a brown coupe and a man in the hood as if he were making repairs.

One asked the children if they knew where the contractor, DeLuxe, lived. They told him. Then, the kidnappers asked James if he were the contractor's son.

James said that he was. The kidnappers then grabbed him, she told police.

Another Witness
Lawrence Lumbing, 14, daughter of Lawrence Lumbing of Niles, told police she saw the kidnapping and fight between the boy and men from the opposite side of the street.

She said that the automobile had different license plates. One of them, she said, was Ohio 830,353. She did not get the other.

The kidnappers boy was described as four and one-half feet tall; complexion light, dark; wearing a gray sweater with a sheepskin collar, a brown waist and gray cap.

He was in the sixth grade at Lincoln school here.

RECALL FORMER KIDNAPING PLOT

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, March 2—The kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby recalled a plot in 1929 to seize Miss Constance Morrow, youngest daughter of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, and sister of Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Letters demanding a huge ransom under threats of kidnaping and murder were sent to her, her father and other relatives. Special guards sent to watch over her at Milton Academy, Dedham, Mass., thwarted the plot. She was 15 years old at the time.

It's a Puzzle

(Will Rogers Special)
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., March 2—On one column of our morning papers the war had been called off. But they hadn't noticed the other column. The Japanese say they don't want China, and it's a cinch the Chinese don't want Japan.

The Japanese say if the Chinese would get back 20 miles from Shanghai, that they would quit fighting. The Chinese say if the Japanese would go on back home where they belong, they would quit fighting.

So nobody really knows what they are fighting over. It's almost like a civilized European war in that respect.

PEACE CONFERENCES END

Chinese Military Heads Claim Backward Movement Is "Tactical Move."

Copyright, 1932.
By The Associated Press
SHANGHAI, March 2—The Chinese army was in general retreat late today along the entire Shanghai battlefield before the resistless march of the reinforced Japanese war machine.

The Japanese said the Chinese retreat had become a rout. They said their troops occupied Tachang, four miles west of Kiangwan, and Mauchungchen a short distance north of there.

Chinese military officials said, however, their retreat was a "tactical move" which was made necessary when the Japanese landed an army at Luho, 20 miles up the Yangtze river, thereby endangering Chinese communications. They said they were retreating as far as Nanziang only.

It was learned on good authority the peace conferences have ended and no further parleys were held today.

The Chinese began to withdraw from China in mid-afternoon after Japanese naval officials ordered a charge into the battered city, which earlier in the day was subjected to a grueling artillery bombardment.

The Chinese also began evacuating Nantao, at the southern extremity of Shanghai. As their westward retreat began from there, thousands of them tried to enter the French concession, immediately adjoining Nantao, and the French were forced to increase their already heavy border guards and armed patrols. The withdrawal from Chapel resulted in a terrific crush of Chinese soldiers along the borders of the international settlement.

TOKYO, March 2—Japan's acceptance of the league of nations proposal for an international conference at Shanghai to attempt to bring an end to hostilities there was announced by the foreign office today, but the spokesman said no progress had been made in negotiations for a truce.

CAR SIMILAR TO KIDNAPERS' FOUND

Sedan, Stolen from Brooklyn Yesterday, Abandoned in New Jersey.

By The Associated Press
HILLSIDE, N. J., March 2—An abandoned sedan found near here last night and answering the description of the car thought to have been used by the kidnapers of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was stolen from Brooklyn yesterday, police were told this morning.

Police said they would examine it for fingerprints. It answered the description of the one whose occupants asked the way to the Lindbergh home yesterday.

The car belongs to Samuel Mandel of Brooklyn. When it was first found, authorities thought they noticed an odor like chloroform, but Mandel explained he had spilled a bottle of perfume in it last week.

GEN. BUTLER TO RUN FOR SENATE

NEWTON SQUARE, Pa., March 2—Major General Smedley D. Butler today announced that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator against Senator James J. Davis.

General Butler said he would run on a bone dry platform and would have the full support of Governor Gifford Pinchot. Senator Davis recently announced he favors a modification of the federal prohibition amendment.

Morrow and Lindbergh Wealth Over 20 Millions

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, March 2—The fortune on which the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby apparently seek to lay hands constitutes one of the largest in New Jersey.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are believed to own assets here to be worth between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 while the fortune which the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, a former Morgan partner, left to Mrs. Lindbergh's mother has been popularly estimated at nearly $10,000,000.

Col. Lindbergh was a poor boy when he hopped off in a borrowed plane for Paris in a flight that made him the world's foremost birdman. Fortune smiled.

He got the $25,000 Orisg prize for the flight and the St. Louis group which backed his venture gave him the "Spirit of St. Louis," the plane, in recognition of his success. He received an undisclosed sum from Daniel Guggenheim for making a tour of the United States after his return, later becoming technical adviser to Pan-American Airways and T. A. T. as well as serving in an advisory capacity for the airways division of the department of commerce. His salaries from the two aviation concerns are reported to total $50,000 yearly. Large sums came to him from newspaper syndication, and from a book he wrote. The first check he received for the book was $100,000, aviation circles said, and royalties are still coming in. Miscellaneous awards in recognition of his flight swelled the total, while in 1929 newspapers said the then ambassador Morrow had established a $1,000,000 trust fund for their daughter, Anne, Lindbergh's wife.

Home Stands In Isolated Rural Spot

By The Associated Press
HOPEWELL, N. J., March 2—No criminal would ask a more isolated spot for a crime and getaway than the Sourlands hill section in which the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped last night.

Standing on the second highest eminence in New Jersey, the new Lindbergh estate—a $50,000 home—is almost completely cut off from the outside world. A narrow road, steep, rocky and muddy, winds up from the farm country below, and it was along this that the kidnapers fled.

Sourlands mountain the entrance is called. When the house was being built last year, a visitor asked a watchman why it was named that. The watchman reached down, grabbed a handful of soil and placed it under the visitor's nose. It had a sour smell.

In the front yard of the Lindbergh 550-acre tract is a private landing field, while behind the house are dense woods. The house is 70 feet long, and its entire length is fronted by a terrace, from which Mrs. Lindbergh can see the flying Wide-Flung Hunt for Lindy Jr. Spreads to International Boundary.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 2—Wide-flung agencies of the federal government will be used to return 20-month-old Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. to his parents and to apprehend his abductors. President Hoover conferred this morning with Attorney General Mitchell.

Operatives of the justice department, as well as the immigration and customs authorities, will cooperate with state authorities to the fullest extent.

By The Associated Press
NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 2—Search for Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr. and his kidnapers extended to the international border today. United States immigration and customs authorities here received instructions from Washington to keep close watch on the border to prevent escape of the abductors to Canada.

Instructions from Washington were to pay particular attention to automobiles bearing New Jersey license plates. All cars licensed in that state crossing the bridges were subjected to thorough search and their occupants rigidly questioned.

BELIEVES KIDNAPER AN INSANE PERSON

Not Work of Organized Band, Is Opinion of Chicago "Secret Six" Head.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, March 2—Col. Robert J. Lahm, Randolph, head of Chicago's famous "secret six," said today he was convinced the kidnaping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was the act of an insane person.

Two years of running down kidnapers have convinced him, Col. Randolph said, that "no organized gang of kidnapers ever would attempt such a crime." There is nothing for authorities to do in the case, he added, until ransom demands are made or other clues uncovered.

The fact that no extortion demands were made before the kidnaping also indicate the Lindbergh baby abduction is the work of a demented person, Col. Randolph said. He expressed a belief that "even the most amateurish gang never would select such a victim."

He expressed belief the child soon would be returned, pointing out that the resources of the entire nation can readily be devoted to the case.

Lindbergh Willing To Meet Demand To Have Child Safe at Home, Is Report; Police Seek Clues to Kidnapers' Trail.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., March 2—Cleveland police today were ordered to search for three men and a woman in a tan automobile bearing New York license plates who are suspected of being the kidnapers of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr. No child was seen in the car.

(Copyrighted, 1932, by The Associated Press)
HOPEWELL, N. J., March 2—Ransom has been demanded for the Lindbergh baby, kidnaped from its nursery last night, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is willing to pay if he can get the infant safely back to its mother's arms.

It was learned shortly before noon today that a note found pinned to the sill of the window through which the baby was taken from its sick bed by the kidnapers made a definite ransom demand.

Threatens Harm If Not Paid
It also threatened harm to the child if the money was not paid, if the contents of the note was divulged, or if the method of payment suggested in the note was revealed. So threatening was the note that for hours its very existence was denied by police.

It was finally determined with absolute definiteness, however, that the ransom demand had been made and that Col. Lindbergh had decided to meet any demand if by so doing he would get his baby back.

No one would say how large the demand was but a report that it was $50,000 went undenied by sources close to the Lindbergh family.

Reenact Scene in Quest for Clues
Puzzled police today reenacted the kidnaping of the world's most famous baby as part of their frantic efforts to solve the mystery.

Using the makeshift ladder with which the kidnap band, believed to include a woman, stole through the isolated Lindbergh estate last night, to snatch the sleeping child, who had been ill for several days with a bad cold, detectives sought to determine exactly how the kidnaping was accomplished.

Though they made no statement of their purpose it was believed the investigators were reconstructing the actual crime hoped they might come upon some clue to lead them through the maze of conjecture and despair surrounding the case.

Father Conducts Search
Last night while Col. Lindbergh tramped the fields and surrounding woods in tireless search for his missing boy, and Mrs. Lindbergh sobbed in the house, refusing to rest, police made a thorough search of house and grounds. They raised a ladder of their own to the second floor nursery window and studied minutely the sill muddled by stealthy boots and the warped shutter which would not close when the baby was put to bed and so left an avenue of easy entrance to the kidnapers.

This morning, however, while scores of police and private citizens carried on the search away from the house, detectives changed their methods of examining the scene of the crime and began following the course of the criminals as exactly as possible.

Taking the rough improvised ladder found this morning about 100 yards from the house, they raised it to the nursery window and cautiously climbed its uneven steps, just as the lurking criminal must have stood last night before he slid into the dark room to lay hands on the helpless infant.

There were clues, but the trail was vague. There were tracks leading a considerable distance and then being lost as the kidnapers apparently got into a waiting automobile.

State Police Marshalled
All available state police in the north New Jersey district were ordered to report for duty at the Lindbergh home at dawn. This concentrated a force of 50 men at the estate where the noted aviator and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, spent a night of torment.

The lean colonel, who dared death along the uncharted New York-Paris airway with silent calm, appeared numb by the catastrophe, that reached into the lonely hills to strike at him. Dressed in leather jacket, an old cap and a worn pair of trousers, his shoes caked with the sour mud which gives name to the region, he tramped most of the night, seeking some clues to his lost name-son.

LINDBERGH BABY ILL WITH SEVERE COLD

Mother Expresses Fear Kidnaped Child Will Suffer from Exposure.

By The Associated Press
HOPEWELL, N. J., March 2—Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., who was kidnaped last night from his crib, was ill with a severe cold, his mother, the former Anne Morrow, revealed today.

She expressed fear lost the child, clad only in night clothes, suffer from exposure.

Striving to maintain her self control with marked effort, Mrs. Lindbergh told Patrolman Charles E. Williamson of the Hopewell police about the child's illness. She said he had been under treatment for several days.

Williamson's search of the nursery—he was the first officer to reach the Lindbergh estate following news of the abduction—revealed that no blankets had been taken, lending substance to Mrs. Lindbergh's fears that the child was taken away improperly clad. Williamson quoted Col. Lindbergh as saying: "It was very windy outside during the early evening, and the noise of the wind could very easily have blanketed strange sounds that at another time would have been heard."

Veteran Huber Plant Employee Spends Nearly 60 Years in Service of Company

Frank V. Miller at 82 Still Pulls Whistle Cord, Calling Men to Work.

This month Frank V. Miller of 214 Bellevue avenue, will complete his fifty-ninth year of service with the Huber Manufacturing Co. All during his employment with the company, Miller has not sustained an injury with the exception of a mishap the day he started to work when a hayrake fell on his foot. Nor has he ever been late to work. For more than 18,000 mornings he has never failed to blow the whistle at 6:30 a. m.

Now 82 Years of Age
Although 82 years of age, Miller has not yet found it necessary to "retire" and he still passes most of his time at the Huber shop. While he has been relieved of the exacting position of stationary engineer, a post he filled for nearly 32 years, Miller still finds many duties to keep him occupied. The month of March has played a prominent part in Miller's life. He was born March 30, 1849, in Grand Prairie township to Martin and Mahalia Gunn Miller, started to work with what was then the Huber & Gunn Co. in March, 1873, and was a stationary engineer for the Huber company from 1880 until March, 1930. His first job was in the woodworking department.

"It doesn't seem long," Mr. Miller said, referring to the nearly fifty-nine years of his life spent in active service. "With new things to occupy one's mind almost constantly, the years roll by quickly. When Miller started with the Huber & Gunn Co., the almost sole product manufactured was revolving hayrakes. Production of grain separators was started later. Two of the members of the original company were relatives of his. Lewis Gunn, the partner, was his uncle and Isaac Shupp, one of the stockholders, was his father-in-law. Other members of the company, as Miller recalls them, were Edward Huber, Thomas Mundy, Charles Stose, David Jones, One Knable, Edward Duffey, George Krause, James Bryant, Henry Kowalko and Harry Apt.

Moved with Plant
In 1899, the company moved to its present location on Greenwood street and branched into the production of road rollers and other machinery, all of which is closely associated with Miller's recollection of his veteran service.

A benevolent project which once flourished in Marion and that probably is within the memories of few present Marion residents is recalled clearly by Miller. A Dr. Johnson, owner of a farm partly contained in the property now extending from Lander street to Kenton street and bounded on the north by the Big Four railroad, made it the gathering place for children within miles by his erection of swings, a fishing pool and small rock houses for leisurely lunches in the picnic season. Many parents made it a custom to spend part of each day in nice weather in this haven. Even the cherries

In an orchard on the plot were free to the children, if, as he warned them, they did not break the limbs. Once an officer, Dr. Johnson would often delight his audiences by donning a military uniform replete with medals and marks of honor. The advent of the railroad took away much of the woodland atmosphere of the place, resulting finally in its abandonment. Miller recalls that some of the swings were so large that the children could swing out over the passing trains.

Has Gold Rush Memento
Miller has in his possession now a large ring of solid gold, which says was made from gold picked out of California cliffs while his father was among the vast army of gold prospectors in 1899. Miller remembers that his father's return with $1500 worth of gold he had dug with a tangle knife for an unemployed. Returning to California in 1880, his father was started at seeing level patches of land where one had been mountains. The use of dynamite, which had caused this leveling, was finally stopped, Miller said, because the rivers and streams were being blocked and he says the dredging of these rivers is yielding more gold than was recovered from the mountains in the first place.

Miller, Alice Shupp Miller, whom he married Feb. 17, 1876, is still his companion along with six of their seven children. A daughter, Fernie, is dead. The sons and daughters are Martin at home, Charles who lives in Bloomville, O., Mrs. Katharine Markin and Mrs. Daisy Hoffmeister of Marion, Miss Blanche Miller at home and Frank C. of Dayton.

Postponements and disappointments are in order, with anxiety caused or because of elderly persons or institutions. This will react on business as well as private affairs.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year where many obstacles and delays may be encountered. While the mind will be keen, sensitive and with far vision, it will not be disposed to practical application of its findings. A child born on this day may be intellectual, alert mentally, given to scientific or metaphysical investigation, but may not be disposed to a practical application of its results and discoveries.

Word was received today that a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Huston McKinstry of Toledo.

McKinstry is a son of James McKinstry of south of Martel.

James McKinstry returned to her home Monday after spending a week at the home of her son and family at Toledo.

Mrs. Wesley Smith of Gallon is spending a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Parr.

OLDEST CHURCH
By United Press
HYANNIS, Miss.—What is believed to be the oldest Congregational church in America—The West Barnstable Congregational church—soon is to be remodeled. Built in 1681, it is considered by architects as one of the finest examples of "ship architecture" the roof beams being supported like the deck of a ship.

A knife has been specially designed for cutting out sections of grapefruit or oranges without crushing them and retaining their juice.

Missouri Dog Performs Amazing Feats of Intelligence

"Jim," a 6-year-old English setter owned by S. H. Van Arsdale, has residents of Sedalia, Mo., baffled. The dog can pick out cars or trees when his master mentions their name. Or he can point to certain persons in an audience when they are described. But he's above the ordinary dog tricks.

By The Associated Press

SEDALIA, Mo.—About the only thing "Jim" doesn't do is go to school.

"Jim" is a dog—a 6-year-old English setter—owned by S. H. Van Arsdale, and for almost all of his life he has performed feats which onlookers have been unable to fathom.

His forte is locating any object named, spelled or written by his master. He points out any one in a crowd specifically. Van Arsdale, the fastest car a person wearing glasses, or a young woman in a blue coat.

Knows Automobiles
He paces a paw on any make of motor car on the street mentioned by his master. He takes him to a forest and he will find whatever kind of a tree he is asked out.

Those who watch the dog exert themselves to detect what he is doing. It is a feat of intelligence, it is said. Van Arsdale em-

Marion Man Has Ringside Seat at Chinese-Japanese Conflict

William Byers, son of Mrs. H. O. Byers of 151 Franconia avenue, has a ringside seat for the Chinese-Japanese conflict. In a letter received here yesterday by his mother, Byers described the war as seen from the decks of the U. S. S. Houston, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, on which he is a ship-fitter, first class.

The letter was mailed Feb. 7 from Shanghai four days after the flagship arrived in Shanghai. Miss Ethel Byers of Columbus was one of the first ships to leave for the east after the situation became acute.

Hears Guns Roar
"I can hear their guns roar, and see the flashes but they are several miles away," he wrote. "One shell fell near one of our ships, the Parrot, a destroyer tied up down the river from us. The shell fell about a hundred yards short of her stern."

"It was rather amusing, the message the admiral sent to the Japs. He told them that if they couldn't come closer than that, they'd better stop firing. You see, they were about a thousand yards off their range. He also informed them that in the vicinity of one of the U. S. ships the fire would be returned. We can surely come closer to the object we fire on than that."

The Houston was anchored in the Whangpoo river yesterday when river bombs exploded, shaking Shanghai. The explosion occurred near where the Houston and ships of the English and Italian fleets were at anchor.

"We brought 300 marines up from the Philippine Islands with us. They joined the fourth regiment on the beach and the 80 that we carried on board also were sent. We have a detachment of bluejackets manning the Shanghai power and light works."

Well Cared For
"The Chaumont came in last evening with 600 soldiers from the 31st Infantry and a few more marines. We now have more than 6,000 soldiers, sailors and marines in Shanghai. The Blackhawk will arrive tomorrow with provisions and trucks. Some time this week a liner from Seattle will arrive, loaded down with stores and provisions for us, so you can see that we are being well taken care of."

"No one is bothering us so there is no fear. I just went up on the top side to take a 'look-see.' The Hongkay district, the northeast section of Shanghai, is shivering again tonight. From all reports they have ruined that section. Well, this is enough about the 'unofficial war'."

Even the screen failed in this

A film corporation took 1,000 feet of film depicting Jim's performance. After careful study it was decided to shelve it because "it can't screen an intelligent dog, you can a stunt dog."

Those theories, however, are almost invariably shattered at each performance. Van Arsdale gives the dog only simple orders and Jim seldom fails his master.

Another Guess
The most popular theory is that the dog actually follows the thoughts of his master's mind, although there hardly is a way to prove it. Psychiatrists who have sought to establish this contention have given up.

Van Arsdale himself declares there is no trick to it. "I don't know how Jim does it," he says. "I don't concentrate on the person or object in question when I give the order. I just think of it as you do the subject of your speech. There must be some sort of mental conveyance from me to Jim."

The dog's general behavior is in keeping with his sagacity. He never associates with other dogs, will not perform ordinary dog tricks, and is indifferent to attention or orders of all but his master.

Screen Test a Failure
Those who have seen Jim accept him as a fact but those who have not remain skeptical. It is difficult to convince them of his prowess.

More Freak Weather Added to Records in February

To pile up examples of freak weather. Range of temperatures in Marion during the month of February was 67 degrees below zero to 67 degrees above zero. The average snowfall for the month was 8.5 inches. Marion had half an inch of snow for the month and this fell on the fourth day of the month. In 1910 the February snow fall was 37 inches and in 1914 it was 20 inches.

Marion was under average in rainfall. Ordinarily Marion should have 2.39 inches of rainfall, but in the 29 days of last month only 1.01 inches fell.

The first night of the month the thermometer registered 12 degrees above zero, but thereafter the minimum temperatures were in the 20s, 30s and on several nights ranged in the 40s. On the 11th the low was 55. A low mark of 22 degrees below was set in 1899.

Three days of the month the mercury stood at 67, within seven degrees of the highest temperature ever registered for February.

Despite the fact that the weather was mild, only seven days of the 29 were clear. Sixteen were cloudy and six were partly cloudy.

Only Wet Gestures Talk Peace, Fight Hard Pity the Hotel Keeper Criticism, Good and Bad

—BY ARTHUR BRISMAN—

THE HOUSE wets have succeeded in gathering 145 wet votes and will force a vote on re-submission of the eighteenth amendment. One of the 145 votes was brought to the house in a wheel chair. That is called "one wet vote," although it doesn't mean anything. Both branches of congress are dry politically.

The state of Rhode Island has passed a bill repealing the state enforcement act and "legalizing" beer containing 3.75 per cent alcohol. Governor Case signed the bill yesterday.

That also doesn't mean much. If you make, transport, buy, sell, drink 3.75 per cent beer in Rhode Island, state authorities will not disturb you.

But United States authorities will disturb you. The wet is not helped when the state says "You may" if the national government says "You must not." And the national government will continue to say that for some time after March, 1933.

WHATEVER ELSE prohibition may have done or not done, it has certainly convinced hotel men that they are in the wrong business. One New York hotel that was making a profit of $800,000 a year a few years ago is now in the hands of a receiver. Another big hotel lost a million dollars last year and another lost $1,200,000. It would interest to see what has happened to income taxes formerly paid by corporations operating hotels. There will be no income from that source in 1931 or 1932.

This is stated merely as a matter of interesting fact. Nothing will be done about it, or can be done about it, for the present. Customers of New York hotels sleep in the hotel, eat and drink in the speak easy.

CONGRESSMAN William Irving Snovich of New York says modern critics "ruin the legitimate theater by destructive criticism." Critics reply that Congressman Snovich wrote an inferior play, the critics said so, and this annoyed him.

Mr. Snovich's play may have been bad, none the less, much modern criticism seems written primarily to prove what a smart little boy the dramatic critic is and not written to help the theater by offering constructive suggestions to managers, playwrights and actors.

Modern criticism may be described, unfortunately, as "smart-aleck" criticism.

Criticism with while encourages the actor or playwright generously, points out his defects, kindly avoids wounding his feelings. Modern critics might study Boileau's way of criticizing and encouraging the young poet Racine. When the latter wrote to Boileau: "I ought to tell you that I write with great facility," the reply was: "I hope to teach you to write with great difficulty."

SOME HAVE SAID mistakenly that one of our troubles has been installing buying. On the contrary, it has been an excellent thing, enabling the buyer to enjoy his purchase while he paid for it, promoting sales and prosperity.

Hereafter you will be able to "travel by deferred payment plan," an idea inaugurated by the Cunard Line. You buy your steamship ticket, paying part down, cross the ocean, travel and finish paying for the voyage after you return. Other steamship lines doubtless will adopt the idea that the old Cunard company has borrowed from the United States. It implies confidence in human nature for the ocean trip, unlike an automobile, cannot be "repossessed" if it is not paid for.

STAGE PROGRAMS AT PALACE THEATER TO BE DISCONTINUED

The Palace has resumed its picture schedule with a change of program on Sunday days. Tuesdays and Fridays Vauville has been closed for an indefinite period. The new schedule will go into effect Sunday.

"Strangers in Love" with Fredric March and Kay Francis featured, will play Thursday through Saturday Stuart Erwin and Juliette Compton have important roles.

Match plays another dual role in "Strangers in Love," but this picture is a romance of excitement and fun, not the distraught romance that was threaded through "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," his previous dual-role picture.

OHIO PICTURE STARS MARIAN MARSH

For her excellent work as a leading woman to John Barrymore, Edward G. Robinson and William Powell, Marian Marsh has been rewarded with a starring picture, "Under Eighteen," which will show at the Ohio Thursday through Saturday.

Miss Marsh was MARIAN MARSH under 18 when she made this picture. Her rise from a player to a star has been one of the Hollywood extravaganzas for which the city is famous.

A star dotted with such names as Regis Toomey, Warren William, Anita Page, Emma Dunn, Joyce Compton, J. Farrell MacDonald, Norman Foster and Walter McGrath, supports Miss Marsh. She was born on the Island of Trinidad, off the coast of Venezuela.

Col. Lindbergh Willing To Pay For Babe's Safe Return, Is Report.

another child with the late spring remained indoors secluded from all callers.

Find Scrawled Note
On the nursery window was pinned a scrawled note. Police said that inquiry would be made whether the 50 men employed in the building of the Lindbergh mansion were paid by check to determine if there were any signatures similar to the writing in the note.

Col. Henry Brockenridge of New York Lindbergh's attorney, accompanied by another man and a woman, arrived at the house early today and went upstairs immediately.

Col. Lindbergh remained indoors from 3:30 to 6:30 this morning and then renewed the search about the estate.

Reporters Warned
Col. Brockenridge who has taken complete charge of the house warned reporters not to follow the aviator around under penalty of being put off the estate.

Mrs. Lindbergh could be seen through the windows. Like her husband, she showed the strain of the ordeal and her eyes were swollen and red from crying and lack of sleep. She was dressed in sport clothes.

A trooper entered the house with a blanket but it was immediately denied it was taken with the baby Lindbergh.

At the request of Colonel Lindbergh, two hunters and trapper who have lived all their lives in the mountainous area assisted him and the police in their attempt to find clues.

The men are James Wyckoff and Oscar Bush Wyckoff and two troopers penetrated the deep woods.

Bush left in an automobile with Colonel Lindbergh and one trooper at 7:30 a. m., and drove toward Flatglown. Wyckoff told reporters that he was going to "look up some moonshiners and see if they knew anything of the kidnapping."

Reporters Seeking "Bundie"
In the early hours of this morning a truck driver, arriving at Philadelphia, reported that he had seen a blanket-wrapped bundle "that looked like a baby doll" lying in a ditch beside the roadway a mile and a half from the Lindbergh place. State police who immediately searched the entire area reported they were unable to find any such bundle.

Police had not intended to reveal their discovery that one of the kidnapers was a woman, but after the information had been inadvertently revealed they elaborated somewhat. They said the clear mark of a woman's shoe had been distinguished among the footprints of the man or men's footprints.

Major Charles Schoeffel of the state police, said the tracks of the kidnapers started from the west side of the Lindbergh home and were traced a distance of two miles.

There were several crossroads, he said, where a car might have picked them up but he would not say if tracks of a car that night have been used had been found. All roads were so cut up by the visiting automobiles after the alarm was spread that it was impossible to distinguish tire marks.

Police Flash Alarm
The police flashed the alarm of the kidnapping over their state-wide automatic printer. Princeton police reported that a few hours before the kidnapping took place, two men in a dark sedan stopped a highway worker and inquired directions to the Lindbergh home.

Police watched all main highways throughout the state for a car answering the vague description of the kidnapers' automobile.

The kidnapping was discovered at 10 p. m. The baby's nurse, Betty Gow, had returned to bed at 7:30. When she saw the state of the nursery there was only a heap of disordered blankets in the crib.

She rushed screaming down stairs to the dining room, and told the colonel and his wife, eating a late dinner, what had happened.

Col. Lindbergh immediately telephoned the state police and the news of the kidnapping was broadcast to police in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

colonel as he swoops from the sky after a leap.

The nursery from which the golden-cuddled child was snatched is on the second floor. The back door of the mansion, which suggests the entrance to some colonial taverns as adorned Christmas cards, opens into a paved parking space.

From Mexico City, where the country's most noted youth wooed Miss Anne Morrow, came telegrams from President Ortiz Rubio and Countess de Montebello, France, and counted the child in a transport of felicitation. In New Jersey little children picked daisies and carried them to the guards for "Lindbergh baby."

Gifts poured in, from baby carriages to fuzzy dogs and the nursery became crammed with an assortment of toys that would delight any child's heart.

In "Toddling" Age
At birth the child robust and promising weighed seven and one-half pounds. He is now strong and golden-haired. Blue eyes peer out from a chubby face, and his locks have a way of curling up and rumpling like his father's. He had begun to toddle about and to lisped.

There was some discussion among the family as to what he should be called, but of course his mother was the final arbiter and "Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr." he became.

The little tot has never taken a ride in an airplane. When his parents flew to the Orient last year he was taken to North Haven, Me., for a long visit to escape the infantile paralysis epidemic which was sweeping New York and vicinity.

Threats Received
Cranks, it was disclosed, had sent several letters threatening danger to the baby and for a time special watchmen were hired to guard him.

For several months he has been a pupil at the private kindergarten of his aunt Elizabeth Morrow, at Englewood. He is described as an exceptionally bright child.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., March 2—Mrs. Charles Long Cutler, grandmother of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was kept in ignorance of her kidnapping today because of her advanced age.

Her daughter, Miss Annie S. Cutler, was notified of the kidnapping late last night in a long distance conversation with Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, grandmother of the baby and sister of Mrs. Cutler.

Alternates are Henry Mierley, H. A. Lucas, Jay Vaughan of Pleasant Acres, Roscoe Strine of Waldo, J. Cook, Clyde Ullom, Miles Longshore, John Whitman of LaTune and H. G. Kramer of Claridon.

Mrs. Hughes Urges Hearers To Accept Savior; 11 Go to Altar.

Salvation and hell were the themes of Mrs. Edna Reougher Hughes' sermon last night at Calvary Evangelical church when she spoke on the subject, "How Shall We Escape If We Neglect to Great a Salvation?" Eleven persons responded to the altar call. A Waldo duo and the Calvary Happy Girls chorus sang.

Mrs. Hughes said in part as follows: "Some people say that the Lord is too good to send any one to hell. He will not send any one to hell. If any one is going to hell he will not go there because he did this or that but because he neglected so great a salvation because 'It is a great salvation because it takes in every one. It makes a change in a person, it sweetens you, it saves a man or woman from their guilt and it makes you ready to meet God.'"

Lindbergh Case Climax to Long Kidnaping List

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, March 2 The kidnapping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., comes as a climax to what anti-crime crusaders here said was a two-year wave of kidnaping with 2,000 or more persons were abducted for ransom in the United States.

During those years, authorities said, kidnaping joined robbery, liquor, vice and drug traffic as a "big money crime." Kidnaping syndicates tortured or terrorized victims into paying millions of dollars ransom, they said.

Although organized kidnaping for ransom are a comparatively recent outgrowth, the authorities recalled that the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby tops a long list of abductions of the last few decades.

The following received nationwide attention:
1874—Charles Ross, German town, Pa., never found although large rewards have been offered for his safe return.

1898—Gerald Lapine, Chicago, later found in Ohio.
1900—Edward Cudahy, the famous meat packing family. Pat Crowe served a prison term for this kidnaping.

1924—Hobby Franks, Chicago. Slain for a thrill by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb university students now serving life and 99 year terms in the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet for crime.

1927—Marion Parker, 12, Los Angeles. Her mutilated body was returned to her father and after a sensational hunt, Edward Hukman was hanged in 1928 as her "thrill slayer."

1928—Melvin Horst, 4, Ottville, O., never found. Two men went to prison, convicted of kidnaping, but later won free trials and acquittals.
1929—Jackie Thompson, Detroit. Returned after payment of $17,000 ransom and three men convicted and $5,000 recovered later.

1930—Michael H. Katz, drug company head, Kansas City. Paid $100,000 for his release two days after abduction.
1931—Miss Nell Donnelly, Kansas City manufacturer. Held for $50,000 ransom but returned safely supposedly without paying. Dr. Isaac D. Kelly, St. Louis, held for $150,000 ransom but released after paying undisclosed sum.

1931—Marion McLean, 6, Cincinnati. Found dead from criminal assault. Charles Bischoff 45 confessed, was declared insane and was sent to the state hospital for the criminal insane, for observation.

CHIEF'S KINDNESS DISARMS PRISONER

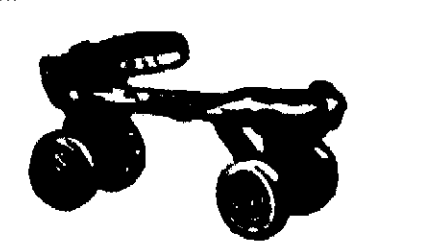

By International News Service
SHELTON, Conn.—Chief of Police William S. Donovan did something George Karkut didn't like. Shaking the bars of his police cell.

Karkut shouted that he would certainly murder Donovan as soon as he was free again.

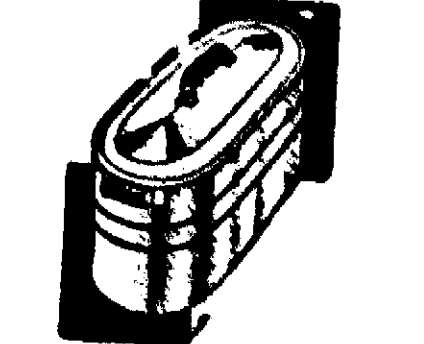

Then Karkut, still in a rage, was brought to court and fined for drunkenness. There was no money to pay and Karkut's little son began to cry.

Chief Donovan walked up and paid the fine from his own pocket, and Karkut quickly repented his threats.

Made of steel, a sectional row-boat for one man that can be transported by automobile has been invented for fishing and camping trips.

TRUSSES

Many people who wear trusses suffer constant annoyances which they accept resignedly as a perfectly natural result of wearing a truss.

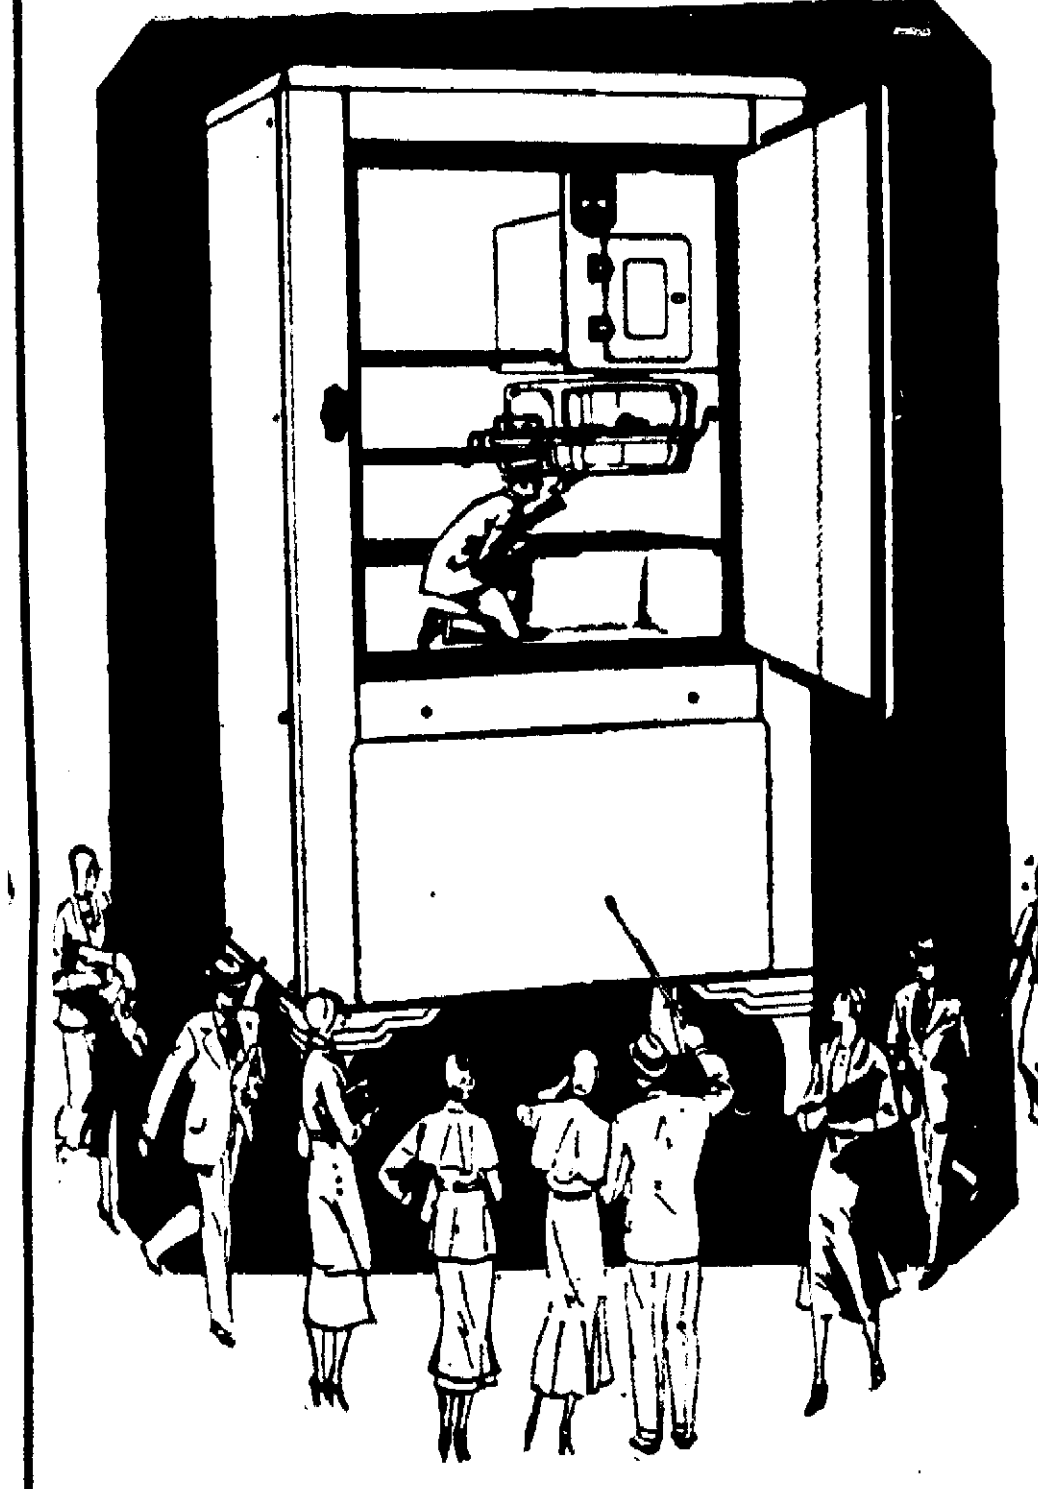

But such is not the truth. They endure their everyday misery because they do not know what modern science has accomplished with the handling of ruptures.

A perfect truss for your rupture and type of person prevents slipping and pinching and the hunching up many times a day of the truss and rupture.

A perfect truss holds your rupture beyond all chance of slipping no matter what you attempt to lift or do. It is our purpose to fit such a truss to you and our guarantee means this delivery of comfort and security or a return of your money.

Learning of the death of an old-fashioned high school teacher, Mr. Hornbostel, first-hand knowledge of the country and the people, and his ability to illustrate what he saw impressed these things on his mind. His ability to draw aided financially in his career at Columbia university and four years in Europe awakened in him a new interest. His circle of friends included Whistler, DeBussey, Saint Saens, together with many of the leading scientists and with them he studied and traveled. He also served abroad during the World war and as an instructor in his chosen work is credited with probably having taught more young men than any other professor.

The accumulation of knowledge brings about the ability to grasp new ideas, the architect stated. "Things like the memorial can't happen by luck," he said and pointed out that it required the assimilation of knowledge, imagination and the arrival of the right moment.

Mr. Hornbostel's first award came in 1899 when he won the second prize of $7,000 in the Phoebe Hurst memorial competition.

Harding Memorial His Most Interesting
Work, Architect Tells Marion Club Women

Of all the structures he has designed the Harding memorial is the most interesting in the opinion of Henry F. Hornbostel of Pittsburgh, Pa., architect, who addressed a guest meeting of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs last night at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Hornbostel was presented a gift by members of the club, a statuette composed of bronze and silver, signifying his work in the building of bridges, office buildings and other structures stand as memorials to his ability throughout the country and his teachings are being put into practice in an equally large territory by the hundreds of students who have graduated from his classes. A model of the Harding Memorial occupied a place on the rostrum and was used by Mr. Hornbostel to illustrate his talk.

Musicians on Program

The talk was preceded by a musical program presented by Miss Ruth Thomas of Delaware, assistant dean of women at Ohio Wesleyan university, harpist, Miss Charlet Cellars also of Delaware, flutist and W. G. Wells of the faculty at Ohio Wesleyan, cellist. Their numbers were artistically presented and afforded a delightful half-hour of music. The program included "Menuetto F. Harding Plays Grandview at Delaware Tourney Friday

PRESIDENTS' BATTLE WILL START AT 8 P.M.

Marion Opponent One of Best Teams in Smaller Class A Loop

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
With approximately 30 reservations made for the annual spring recreation basketball banquet next Monday night, Elmer Shaw, secretary of the city softball commission, has issued a request asking that reservations be made as soon as possible. The deadline for making the reservations is Saturday night of this week.

Each organization which sponsored a team in the city softball leagues last season is eligible to send a captain and manager to the banquet as guests of the city commission. There were 32 teams competing in the four leagues last season.

Aside from the managers and captain of the 32 teams, anyone interested is eligible to attend the affair at a cost of 35 cents a plate. The cost was originally announced as 50 cents but has since been slashed to 35. The banquet will be served by a First Reformed church organization.

Four new commission members will be elected Monday night to replace the four whose terms expire this year. Earl T. Smart, E. G. "Jap" Siefert, Leo Keller and Don Howard are the members who retire this year.

PLEASE MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. IT WILL FACILITATE MATTERS GREATLY!

Friday of this week Harding High's basketball team will meet Grandview High school in the class A district tournament at Edwards gym in Delaware.

Harding, it is generally conceded in this district, is a good tournament team. As yet no one has offered any explanation but it seems the Presidents annually make a better showing in tournament games than in regular season competition. The Presidents, something like four years ago, last practically every game in the N. C. O. league and then went to the finals of the Delaware classic. Last season the Presidents had a poor record in N. C. O. league play but tripped Columbus North in the opening game at Delaware.

Harding has been fortunate this season in not drawing the toughest opponent in the tourney. Perhaps the Presidents will be able to uphold their record as good tournament players.

Mr. G. W. Cox, superintendent of the Caledonia High school calls attention to an error in computing the points scored by Donald Baird of Caledonia in the games played in the Eastern division of the Marion county league. Baird was recently credited with having scored 70 points which would give him second place in the Eastern division scoring column. Checking back through the records, Baird is found to have been "robbed" of 30 points, having collected 42 field goals and 16 free throws for a total of an even hundred points giving him the scoring championship of the Eastern division.

Thanks Mr. Cox, for calling attention to the error.

Drawings Also Made for Class B Tournament Games at Westerville

Drawings were made last night at Columbus for the central district class B basketball tournament to be held in Westerville starting Saturday of this week. Moral High school, runner-up for the Marion county championship, will be the first local district team to swing into action in the tourney. Moral will clash with Pickaway at 10 a. m. on Saturday. Three Marion county teams will compete in the quest for district class B honors. They are Caledonia, winner of the Marion county title, Waldo and Moral.

The second Marion county team to get into action will be Waldo. The Copeland-coached five will meet Grandview, a Licking county team at 11 a. m. immediately after Moral and Pickaway have decided their struggle. Caledonia, Marion county title-holder, will take on Monroe of Pickaway county at 4 p. m. Saturday afternoon.

Thirty teams will take part in the class B competition. Lancaster St. Mary's, winner of the class B hunting for the last two seasons in a row, is a heavy favorite to cop the flag for the third successive year. Not much is known here at present of the strength of any of the Marion county opponents except Grandview. Grandview's blue and white clad team is not as tough this season as usual, although the college town boys will put up a good scrap against most any class B organization.

Should Harding come through the game with Grandview with flying colors, the Presidents will clash with the winner of the South-West game at 8:45 p. m. on Saturday. The semi-finals of the tourney will be played March 11 and the finals on March 12.

Grandview High school is one of the best teams in the Central Buckeye league, a circuit made up of smaller class A schools.

CAREY HAS HIS OWN IDEAS OF TRAINING

Robin Players Find Workouts Different Thing Under New Pilot.

By The Associated Press
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 2.—Strange sounds have been emanating from this little town since the Brooklyn ball club arrived to substitute the Carey enthusiasts for the Robinsonian philosophy.

At first the natives showed some tendency to be alarmed. Not in the memory of the oldest inhabitants had Darryl Vance, been known to hoist himself on his broad shoulders and cast dignity to the winds by pumping his legs bicycle-fashion.

"Say, I'm beginning to like this bicycle act of mine," remarked Vance, speaking of the exercises that precede the daily workouts at the ball park.

Vance's reaction is typical of the way the ball players have taken to the new program.

The talk of the camp just now, however, is Walter Hoyt, the one-time "boy wonder" of the Yankees. Hoyt promised Carey he will stay in condition and pitch as often as desired.

FAVORITES LOSE IN CHURCH CAGE MEET

U. B. Beats Reformed, Trinity Trips Calvary, Epworth Wins from St. Mary's Five.

Two favorites fell by the wayside last night in the opening round of the elimination tournament among teams of the Marion city Sunday school league on the Y. M. C. A. court. The tournament will settle no championship. Central Christians having won the city church title recently in the regular league season of competition. The tourney will be continued Saturday night of this week.

In the opening game last night, United Brethren Sunday school, a last-place organization, surprised First Reformed by doing out a 35-24 beating. The winners got off to a slow start and trailed the Reformed team 5-1 at the end of the first period. Turning loose a high-powered attack in the second period, United Brethren stopped Reformed cold, running the score to 15-6 by the end of the first half.

First Reformed made an attempt to get back in the running in the second half but could not stem the suddenly acquired power of the United Brethren.

Trinity Baptist Wins

In the second game, Trinity Baptist slipped the skids under another of the teams which finished the season high up in the standings. Calvary Evangelical, winner of third place in the regular season, fell before the Baptists by a score of 35-21. Calvary never was very much in the game with Trinity, trailing from the start.

Partidge Scores 13

Epworth kept right on going in the second half and widened the breach between the teams steadily as the game progressed. Bud Partidge led the Methodist scoring with 13 points.
